Your Guide to Trips

Southampton Junior Centre

Trips at the Lewis School

We believe learning should not be confined to the classroom!

That's why our trips, as well as being fun-filled, offer opportunities for you to practise your English and learn about British culture.

Linking Learning with Leisure

Each trip has a learning theme that is explored during English lessons and then reinforced during the trip. In this way, you will be prepared with the knowledge and vocabulary to help you get the most out of your visit, making it a more vivid and memorable experience.

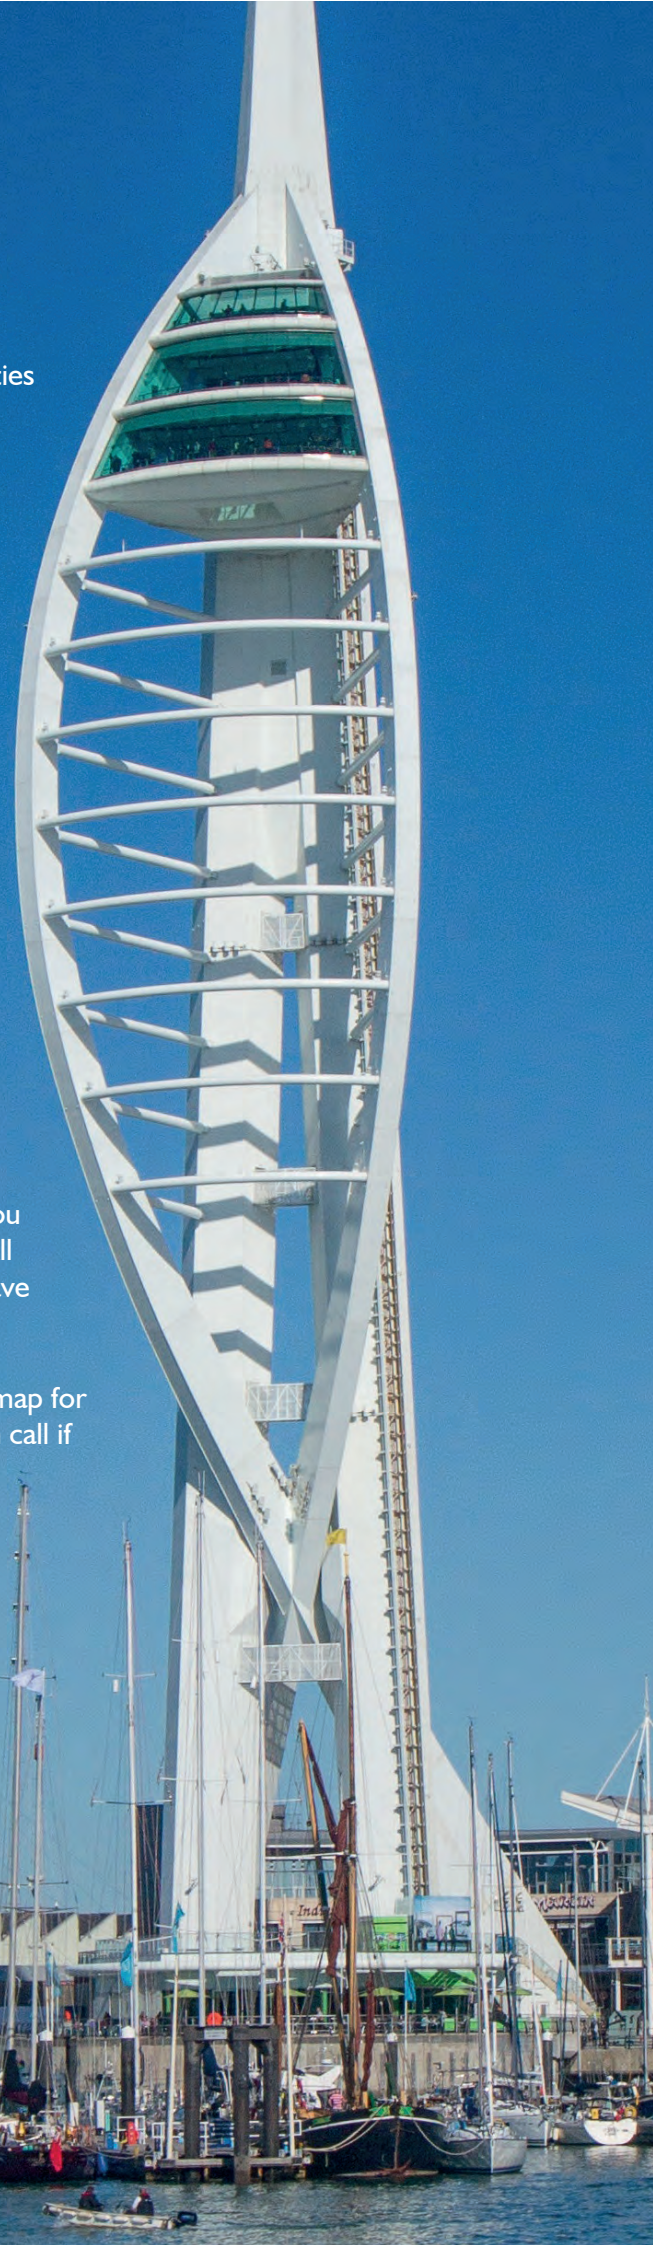

On each trip, our Activity Leaders will bring to life the sights of the city with interesting stories and facts, as you discover British culture and attractions first-hand.

Our trips are interactive, too! You will have a Trip Passport with a specially designed multiple-choice quiz for each trip, so you can practice your English and record what you have learned.

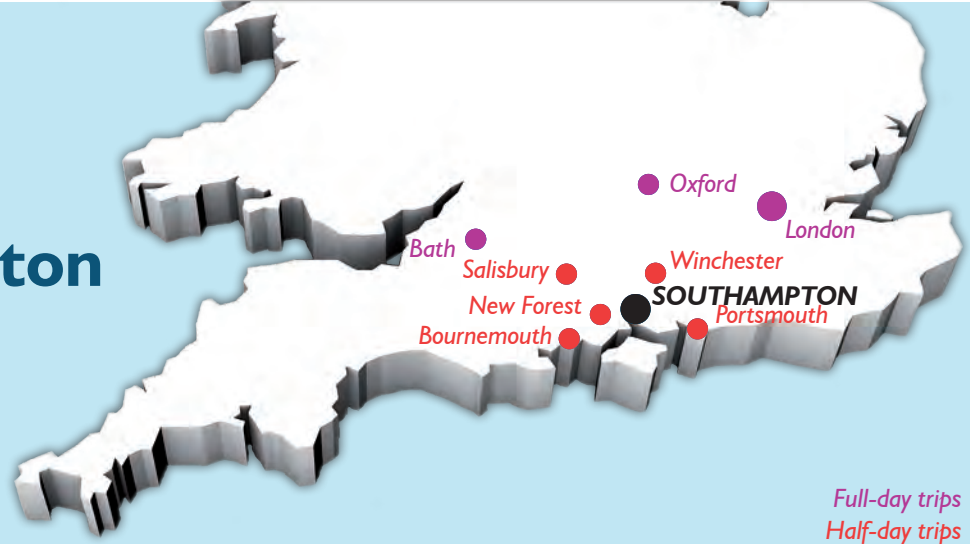

Safety and Welfare

Your safety and well-being are our top priorities. On all trips, you will be accompanied by our Activity Leaders at a ratio of 1:20. All our leaders are trained in welfare and safety issues and many have qualifications in first aid.

You will be supervised at all times. We also provide you with a map for each trip and there is a 24-hour telephone number that you can call if you are lost or in difficulty.

London Trip

London is one of the world's great cities – some say the greatest! It was the Romans who first built the square mile now known as the City of London, which is the financial centre. Now 2,000 years later, it is the biggest city in Western Europe and has an economy that is larger than that of many countries.

London is famous for its architecture, with some parts - like the Tower of London - dating back to the time of William the Conqueror, while others, like the Shard, have only recently been completed. London has been badly damaged several times, notably in 1666 when much was destroyed in the Great Fire, and then in WWII when bombs flattened many buildings. The streets of London are a living museum and are best seen on foot.

Some of London's most famous attractions include Buckingham Palace (the King's official home), the London Eye, the Houses of Parliament and Big Ben. And of course, shopping! Central London is a shopper's paradise, and the city has every kind of shop imaginable if you know where to look!

Photo opportunities are everywhere - famous buildings, London taxis, double decker buses, the King's guards and the many colourful street performers. Have a great time in the capital!

Oxford Trip

The University of Oxford is the oldest university in the English-speaking world. It is thought that it began in the 12th century and by the middle of the 13th century, there was an established University in Oxford. At this time, most students stayed with their masters in private houses. The first college was Merton in 1264. Today there are more than 35 colleges, which are responsible for the admission of students, their welfare and education. Many of the colleges are open to the public.

Oxford has educated 30 British Prime Ministers, including Rishi Sunak. Other famous people who studied at Oxford include actors Hugh Grant and Rowan Atkinson (Mr Bean), scientist Stephen Hawking, former US President Bill Clinton, and writers Oscar Wilde, J.R.R. Tolkien, who wrote Lord of the Rings, and Lewis Carroll, who is famous for Alice in Wonderland.

Fans of Harry Potter will love Oxford, as two of its colleges - Christ Church College and New College - and the famous Bodleian Library were used as locations in the films.

Oxford University and Cambridge University have a long history of competition with each other, both academically and in sport. At the river, you may see students practising their rowing in preparation for the famous Boat Race every spring.

Bath Trip

The beautiful and compact city of Bath is set among the rolling hills of the Avon Valley, and wherever you walk you can enjoy views of the surrounding countryside.

Bath is named after the Roman Baths, which are located in the heart of the city next to the medieval abbey. The Romans built the baths in AD43 around the main hot spring and used the waters for cleansing, healing and worship.

Most of the stunning architecture in Bath comes from the Georgian period of the 18th and early 19th centuries. One of Bath's most famous residents in this period was Jane Austen, who wrote many famous novels such as Pride and Prejudice - you may have seen the film!

Although small, the city is full of life and culture. Street musicians play in the abbey square, boat trips take visitors along the river, and tourists can enjoy the excellent shops, museums and restaurants, or relax in the beautiful parks. It's easy to see why Bath is one of Britain's best-loved cities and a UNESCO World Heritage Site.

Bournemouth Trip

Bournemouth is one of the best seaside resorts in the south of England, with seven miles of golden, sandy beaches. It's very popular and very busy on hot, sunny days!

The beach is a hive of activity, with people enjoying swimming, sunbathing, beach games and watersports. It also has some very nice parks. One of them has a hot air balloon offering a 'birds-eye' view of the city.

Bournemouth is located directly to the east of the 'Jurassic Coast', where lots of dinosaur fossils have been found. The nearby coastline was also very important during World War 2, for example as a departure point in the D-Day landings.

With its pretty parks and beautiful beach, we're sure you'll like Bournemouth. It's the perfect place to enjoy an ice cream in the sun!

Winchester Trip

Winchester is a small historic city that was formerly the capital of England, during the 10th and early 11th centuries.

Winchester Cathedral. This was built in the 11th century. It was recently used in the filming of The Da Vinci Code. The famous 19-century novelist Jane Austen is buried here.

The Great Hall. This is the only surviving part of the old Winchester Castle. It was rebuilt in the 13th century and still exists in this form. It is best known for the Round Table, which has hung in the hall for over 700 years. According to myth, the wizard Merlin created the original Round Table for King Arthur. This is an imitation believed to be made in the 13th century for Edward I, who was interested in the legend of King Arthur.

Statue of King Alfred. Perhaps the most important person in Winchester's history was King Alfred. He was a Saxon king, and established Winchester as the capital of the ancient kingdom of Wessex in 827.

Salisbury Trip

Salisbury is a beautiful small city in one of the oldest parts of England.

The city's most famous attraction is its impressive cathedral, right in the centre. The spire is the tallest in Britain (123m). Salisbury Cathedral also houses the Magna Carta, one of the most important documents in English history. It was issued in 1215 and was an agreement between King John and his barons, limiting the powers of the King.

The Cathedral Close and the Market Square are among the best known parts of Salisbury, but all through the city centre you will find attractive buildings from medieval times and the Tudor period.

Another feature that makes Salisbury special is the River Avon, which runs through the heart of the city and is home to many ducks and swans.

Portsmouth Trip

Portsmouth (population 196,000) is the UK's only island city. It used to be the largest naval base in the world in the heyday of the British Empire. Nowadays, it is still home to the Royal Navy and attracts many tourists.

The Historic Dockyard is Portsmouth's best-known attraction. There you can see the 19th century HMS Warrior (below), and the HMS Victory (above), with which Nelson defeated Napoleon's navy at Trafalgar in 1805. The dockyard also houses the new Mary Rose Museum (not included in the trip), which displays the remains of Henry VIII's warship, which sank in 1545.

The most spectacular landmark in the city is the Spinnaker Tower, which opened in 2005. It is 170m high and provides a fantastic view of the city. The tower is situated next to a very modern shopping area called Gunwharf Quays, which is full of outlet shops, fashion stores and restaurants.

New Forest Trip

The New Forest is a National Park with approximately 150 square miles of unspoilt, natural beauty. As well as forest, it is also made up of heathland, and is notable for its wildlife

Most famous are the New Forest ponies. There are about 5,000 ponies roaming wild across the forest, as they have done for at least 2,000 years. The ponies are quite accustomed to people and you can actually get close to them. As you explore the forest, you may also see cows, donkeys and possibly even deer.

The forest is not actually 'new' at all. It was created as a royal forest in 1079 by King William I (William the Conqueror), particularly for hunting deer. It was first recorded as 'Nova Foresta' in the Domesday Book in 1086.

The New Forest became a National Park in 2005 and is a popular tourist destination.
